

Ms Caroline Pyszko

HR Consultant

Provisional Psychologist (AHPRA)

Bachelor of Psychology (Honours), Macquarie University 2012

Currently completing Masters in Organisational Psychology, Macquarie University, expected completion date 2014

Background

Caroline has been working for Henricks Consulting for over 3 years. Her core experience lies in the administration of various organizational assessment tools including exit interviews, employee opinion surveys and 360-degree assessments. Working as an account manager she was responsible for all aspects of the process which included identifying client needs, designing the survey tool, analyzing results and report writing.

Recently Caroline has also taken the lead on designing and constructing our online self-service survey system Workplace Pulse which promises to change the face of self-service survey platforms within Australia.

Caroline has a deep knowledge of applied statistics which she has used to maintain our external benchmarks and conduct various research projects over the years.

She also has extensive experience in selection and recruitment (including psychological assessment). She has also developed and implemented a number of internship programs.

Areas of Expertise in Human Resources

- Survey Administration and Design
- Recruitment and Selection
- Psychological test administration
- Report writing
- Research and statistics

Industry / Functional Experience

- Retail